In addition, RefugePoint endeavours to improve the quality of life for refugees around the world through field building and systems change. We recognize the vital role that Community-Based Organizations (CBOs) play as first responders to community needs and are interested in sharing knowledge, skills, and learning through more direct engagement with and support to these organizations. In addition to capacity-sharing support and facilitating peer-learning sessions, we are excited to offer funding support to strengthen and expand the impact of current efforts by CBOs to promote refugee self-reliance.
